Soft Skills Training

Loosely defined, soft skills are relationship, communication, and emotion-based skills, distinct from technical expertise known as hard skills. Conventional wisdom says your hard skills on your résumé will get you the interview; your soft skills in person (or on Zoom) will get you the job. Fortunately, there are many soft skills programs that can help you win the job:

Communication Skill

- Customer service
- Emotional intelligence and situational leadership
- Sales
- Team building
- Creative problem solving
